I Asked a Makeup Artist, Facialist, and Derm to Shop on Amazon—See Their Carts

by ERIN JAHNS

Beauty experts, they're just like us! Well, kind of. Of course, most of us don't possess the professional know-how when it comes to prepping a celebrity for a red carpet sparkling with flashbulbs or assessing the health of a person's complexion, but many of us do have one thing in common with the industry's best makeup and skincare experts: Amazon! Despite having access to quite literally any product in the world, over the years I've discovered that even the most prestigious experts still count on plenty of products you can snap up during your next Amazon shopping binge.

In case you're curious for some actual examples, I reached out to facialist Candace Marino, makeup artist Jamie Dorman and board-certified dermatologist Ellen Marmur for their signature Amazon shopping picks. Marino did add the caveat that she always recommends continuing to support small businesses, too, but if you're looking for Amazon content, exclusively, right now, she still has your back with tons of great beauty picks. Keep scrolling! Everything beauty experts would snap up right this second is just below, plus quotes explaining why they feel they're superior.
